September 25, 2016 — Twenty-sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Today's readings again are directed to believers, communities of faith. As in last week's reading, Amos confronts us with a condemnation of those whose lives are focused on pleasure and self-absorption. The psalm contrasts that focus with the Lord's—justice for the oppressed; food for the hungry; freedom for captives; sight to the blind; raising of those who are bowed down; loving the just; protecting strangers, orphans, and the widow; and by doing so, thwarting the way of the wicked. Timothy urges the pursuit of righteousness, devotion, faith, love, patience, and gentleness. Luke tells the familiar tale of the wealthy man and the poor beggar at his doorstep, who experience life very differently in this world and in the next. We are once again being given clear indications about how God intends for us to live our lives.

GOD'S LIFE There is no subtlety in the readings today. The contrasts are even starker than last week, the outcome more certain. Amos, the psalmist and Timothy each make clear how to live the life God intends for us. In Luke's Gospel, an unnamed man from a wealthy family and a poor beggar named Lazarus live very different lives on earth and find very different fates after death. Yet even after death, the wealthy man asks for someone to warn his brothers, again thinking only of himself and his family. Not even the suffering of hell can bring him to focus on the needs of those outside his immediate family.

OUR CHOICE The readings today make it clear that the outcome of our afterlife rests on the choices we make in this life. The choice for the rich man could not have been clearer. That choice sat outside his door every day of his life. While he lived in luxury, at his very doorstep lay Lazarus, a poor sick man tended to only by dogs in the street. (The rich man has no name. Only Lazarus is named.) Yet this obvious opportunity for the rich man to choose the way of the Lord is lost to him in the distracting abundance of worldly riches.

The choice is clear and the signs are obvious; we need only pull our attention away from the distractions of wealth, abundance, power, security, and safety to see what we must do. It is not easy to do, and for some, not possible in this world or the next. In the end both the rich man and Lazarus die. That is the fate of all mortal beings. It is our fate as well. The choices we make in this world shape the quality and outcome of our lives.

Today's Readings: Am 6:1a, 4-7; Ps 146:7-10; 1 Tm 6:11-16; Lk 16:19-31

The St. John School family invites you to share the Eucharist with them at St. Clement Church on Wednesday, September 28 at 8:00 am.

Statement on 40 Days for Life Baton Rouge Fall Campaign 2016

The leadership of the 40 Days for Life Baton Rouge campaign, co-sponsored by the Catholic Diocese of Baton Rouge and Baton Rouge Right to Life, extends its prayers and support to all those who have been affected by the floods that devastated our communities in the last month. The reality of the scope of this unprecedented devastation resulting from a 1,000-year flood event has required us to re-consider the prudence of moving forward with this year's campaign.

This was a difficult decision but one that was reached unanimously by all leadership parties involved. Though there will not be a formal 40 Days for Life campaign, individuals and groups are strongly encouraged to continue to pray for an end to abortion.

We wish to thank all who have participated in the 40 Days for Life campaign in the past and we hope that this same dedication will allow us to resume this campaign next year.

Historic St. Paul Church—Mass & Fundraiser

Please join the "Friends of St. Paul Church, Inc.," for their annual Outdoor Mass & Fall fundraiser on Sunday, September 25.

Mass will be celebrated by Fr. Joey Angeles at 10:00 am on the grounds of St. Paul Church in Bayou Goula. A complimentary jambalaya or hot dog lunch will be served followed by a silent auction.

Proceeds from the auction as well as the 2nd collection will go towards the restoration of this historic church building. To volunteer your time or to donate an item for the auction, call Susan B. Landry at 225.964.8908.
