December 18, 2016 — Fourth Sunday of Advent

"This is how the birth of Jesus Christ came about." So begins Matthew's narration of Mary and Joseph's first adventure as husband and wife. The early Christians who were his audience must have been eager to hear the story of Jesus' early years, and wondered if what they had heard about Mary was true. It must have been Mary who handed this story down to the apostles, which subsequently found itself in the scriptural canon. One would imagine that this was a rather private matter between Mary and Joseph, but so important that it needed to be shared later. It's a tender and lovely story of a young couple in love and faced with a dilemma.

JOSEPH WAS A RIGHTEOUS MAN Today's Gospel is one of only a few stories that mention Joseph. It is clear from these Gospel accounts that Joseph was a man of good character and also a loving man, not willing to harm Mary, even though it appeared that she had betrayed him in the most hurtful way. He could have denounced her publicly and she would have been stoned to death. But he did not want that to happen to her. Did he and Mary have a conversation about the Annunciation events, and could that conversation have made him more open to the dream in which the angel appeared to him?

IN A DREAM Do we believe that our dreams hold meaning for our lives? Many psychologists say so, and yet we often dismiss what we have dreamed because our dreams may seem so far-fetched and implausible. If we paid attention to our dreams, and God revealed something important to us, would we believe it? If something scary or evil occurred in a dream, would we just shake it off, or would we say a prayer to God to protect us from evil and know that God would never will bad things for us? The Jews then, as today, looked for the Messiah to come. When the angel told Joseph that this child was conceived through the Holy Spirit, he readily believed that Mary would bear a son who would save people from their sins. They named him Jesus, which in Hebrew is "Yeshua." It means "God saves." Joseph was willing to believe that the prophecy from Isaiah, "the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, / and they shall name him Emmanuel, / which means 'God is with us' " would be fulfilled in his own life (Matthew 1:23). When he awoke, he did not shake off the dream, but acted on it in a way that would change his life, and would change the world. In this season of waiting for the Messiah, we can dream of that time of the Reign of God to come, and we can believe that it will be fulfilled.

Today's Readings: Is 7:10-14; Ps 24:1-6; Rom 1:1-7; Mt 1:18-24

December 18, 2016

Dear Family:

With the Fourth Sunday of Advent, the readings take us to the threshold of the mystery of the Incarnation. Isaiah is frustrated with King Ahaz, who will not ask for the sign of God's faithfulness that God has invited him to request. So Isaiah announces the sign himself; "the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall name him Emmanuel." Ahaz and the people are thus called to trust in the promise of God, a promise that will be fulfilled in the Gospel account.

The psalmist's hymn of praise addresses the Lord as Creator and Savior. Everything belongs to the Lord: the seas, the earth, and all who dwell upon it. The blessings of the Lord will be given to all "whose heart is clean."

In a lengthy and formal introduction to his Letter to the Romans, Paul makes the connection between the words of prophets of the First Testament and their fulfillment in the New Testament. The line of David, whose descendant is Jesus Christ, links the two. Paul identifies himself as the one whose mission is to make this known to the Jews, the Gentile, and the Christians in Rome. Just as Paul sees himself as being "set apart" for this ministry, he teaches that all are called to "belong to Jesus Christ," to be set apart as "the beloved of God."

Matthew's concern in the Gospel is to set forward the divine and human heritage of Jesus. In human terms he is of the royal house of David through Joseph, a "son of David." Jesus' divine origin is found in the two names that he is given. The name, "Jesus," means "the Lord saves"; he will save the people from sin. His second name is "Emmanuel," a name which means "'God is with us," Jesus will be both Savior of God's people and God's presences among them.

Some questions for reflection:

How was the hope of Israel fulfilled in the birth of Jesus?

What signs do you see that "God is with us"?

Are you ready for Christmas? In what ways have you brought hope to others?

Many thanks to the Altar Society and the dedicated Decorating Ladies who made the Rectory a welcoming space as we celebrated our Annual Christmas Open House last Saturday. A great crowd of parishioners (young and old alike) joyfully gathered to celebrate the gift of Christmas as we found and shared Christ among us in fellowship, food, laughter and fun. Thanks to all who helped set up, clean up, prepare festive foods and for Lionel Stein and his crew of talented experts for adding to our cheer. Thanks as well to the Knights of Columbus for tending to our libations, Medric, Gary, Sue, Miss Rose and all who made our Open House a great evening.

Please remember that I will be hearing confessions this coming Tuesday night from 6:30 p.m. (directly after 6:00 p.m. Mass) until 7:30 p.m. or until those there have celebrated the Sacrament of Penance.

This past week was full of events to aid us in preparation for the Nativity of Our Lord. The Knights of Columbus gathered up the gifts you brought for the giving tree to present them to the needy of our area. Over 20 men and women gathered to give even more beauty to our church building as they set up the crèche and gave a blessed Christmas touch to our environment. We are truly blessed by such talent and generosity.

Wednesday was truly a busy day: Mr. Ivan Cabrea, with the assistance of local law enforcement, purchased and dropped off bicycles for boys and girls in our area. Thanks to Mr. Ivan and to our local law enforcement for recognizing the need to reach out to our local youth in need especially at Christmas time. The "Gems", our senior citizens, celebrated with a meal and fellowship and were entertained by some of our St John School's young choir members directed by Mr. David Aguilard. Thanks to Lorraine Hidalgo and her helpers for always preparing and hosting this event. Just after that, back in the Rectory, I gathered with the priests and deacons of our deanery for a pre-Christmas luncheon. This was our last chance for fellowship before heading into the great Season of Christmas. Our rectory can comfortably seat all of us and it brings me joy that our parish is so generous to share our gifts of hospitality with the priests and deacons of our area.

Finally, on Thursday night, St. John School and all their families gathered for the St. John School Christmas Musical Celebration under the direction of Mr. David Aguilard. There is nothing like hearing the voices of our children giving praise for the gift of Our Lord Jesus Christ at His Nativity. Also notable - this year's special addition of renditions by the Faculty Choir - a real treat! (Hopefully, due to this high acclaim more members - calling out the male coaches here - will add to their number next year. Come on, Man!)

Please don't forget about the January 8th Epiphany Concert. Once again, we've planned a great concert for your enjoyment. The 23 piece orchestra under the direction of Bill Grimes will celebrate Epiphany Sunday with a special musical tribute at 4:00 p.m. Tickets are on sale before and after Masses and at the office. All proceeds go to St. John School. Tickets make a great gift. Just saying.

Peace,

Fr. Greg

ARE YOU RETIRED?

Have you ever thought about giving one hour a week in the Adoration Chapel? What a great way to serve our parish through the powerful witness of prayer before the Blessed Sacrament and an opportunity to grow in your own personal prayer life. Being an Adorer costs nothing but the gift of your time before the Lord. Men are particularly needed for the night time hours.

If these years of retirement don't have you busier than when you were working full time, why not become an Adorer in the Adoration Chapel. You'll be surprised how quickly the hour passes — and the Lord will bless you.

To volunteer, call Mickey Rivet at 225.687.6549 or JoAnn Daigle at 225.687.4621 or 225.776.4865.

Please join us in the Adoration Chapel on Saturdays from 11:00 am until 12 Noon to pray the Rosary for Priestly vocations.
